The Yokohama papers which have arrived to hand by the last two or three mails are full of letters from irate correspendents who all agree in "going" in the strongest torms for Mr. Norman. That gentleman, we bolieve, has left Yokohama for a short period, with the intention, however, of returning, but judging from the tone of the letters appearing in all the Yokohama papers, Mr. NORMAN, for his own safety, would apparently be well advised to alter his original intention. To an impartial person and a non-resident of Yokohama, the impression conveyed after reading Mr. Non-MAN's letter and the correspondence which has followed, is, we think, that his critics are making a good deal of fuss about a very little. Mr. Nonman's letter certainly dis not convey to our mind the terrible charge against the community which the correspondents appear to have seen. The letter was a very readable one, written by a man who had been in the country but a few weeks, and who gave his impressions, for in general. INSTRUCTION OF THE BLIND. TO THE EDITOR OF THE "DAILY PRESS." DEAR SIR. - Japan has lessons for us in China relating to the relief of the blind worth attending to with some care. When I was in that country in 1879, the American and Scotch Bible Societies had each some portions of Scripture printed in different systems for the blind. When in Yokohama and Tokyo last year, I found the following to be the condition of things. The agent of the National Bible Society of Scotland had secured a press of extra power from Great Britain in order to embess Scripture portions for the blind in the kana or phonetic syllabary character of Japan. He is very enthusiastic and claims that if a clever Japanese blind man who could read before losing his sight is called in from the street and an embessed book placed in his hands be will read from it in half an hour. Of course the quickness of the touch differs in men and also their readiness to comprehend anything new. Those who have never read will, if olever, in a few days be able to do so. This system has the advantage of being readable by the seeing friends of the blind anywhere, who N.B. - "Winners" except where otherwise can tell them words that they do not know. IMPERIAL QUARTO UNGLISH AND CHINES! DICTIONARY. WITH THE PUNTI AND MANDARIN PRONUNCIATION. An Anglo-Chinese Dictionary, published at

Daily Press Office, Hongkong.

For comprehensiveness and practical service this Work stands unrivalled. All the new words which the Chinese have of late years been compelled to coin to express the numerous ob-Hongkong High Level Tramways Company, jects in machinery, photography, telegraphy, and in science generally, which the rapid advance East Berneo Planting Company, Limited-347 of foreign relations has imposed upon them, are larrive here on or about the 25th instant. here given in extenso. Each and every word is fully illustrated and explained, forming exercises or students of a most instructive nature. Both the Court and Punti pronunciations are given pore on the 14th, and is due here on the 20th the accents being carefully marked on the best instant. principle hitherto attained. The typography displays the success of an attempt to make th Chinese and English type correspond in the size of body, thereby effecting a vast economy of space, achieving a clearness not previously attained, and dispensing with those vast margins instant. and vacant spaces which have heretofore characterized Chinese publications. To illustrate the vast scope of the work the following facts are submitted for consideration:-Chalmers' Vocabulary contains about 16,000 Chinese characters, and Medhurst's English and Chinese Dictionary about 100,000, whilst this work contains more than 50,000 English words, and upwards of 600,000 Chinese characters. Again, despite all the grammars and other elementary works as yet published, the student of this difficult language absolutely requires examples to display the various applications and equivalents of different words which have one general meaning. Of these examples this work contains more than five times as many as any other Dictionary hitherto pub-

For practical purposes the arrangement of the work is so complete, that a reference to its pages enables a person who understands English to communicate effectively with natives who understand nothing but Chinese. In this respect the work will be found indispensable to all Europeans residing in China, and to the natives themselves it explains subjects fully with which very few indeed of them are perfectly acquainted. To parties resident in England and interested in China it cannot but be invaluable occasion-It comprises upwards of two thousand large
